" You will live for a few days in an 18th century building, a manor house was usually made up of a body of dwellings and outbuildings, some of which could form one or two wings, as is the case here, surrounded by fields, farms, pastures and woods. It was not a military building, the manor estate was largely self-sufficient and traded some surpluses with other mansions in order to buy some rare products if necessary. In the Bessin region, there are a large number of fortified mansions and farms due to the wealth of its land. The last notable to have lived here was the Marquis De Trainel whose coat of arms you can admire on the central part of the Manor. We have five themed guest rooms: the Nest, the Slate, the Orchard, the Beach or the Kites, which will delight every traveller with their unique universe. The 60m cottage in the shade of the oak tree is an ideal holiday home for a family holiday. Functional and friendly, it can accommodate up to 6 people. The charm of the old, allied to the calm of nature, makes this place an ideal place to stay in Normandy. We will warmly welcome you during your future stay at the Oak Manor. "
